NO RATE INCREASES UNTIL TRACTION CO. SERVES BETTER GAS

Wisconsin Railroad Commission Rejects Application for Higher Rates.
GAS SERVICE IS RAPIDLY IMPROVED
Traction Company Ordered to Make Immediate Improvements in Its Plant.

In one of the most drastic rulings ever made by the Wisconsin railroad commission, the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company's application for authority to increase its rates on electric light, street railways and gas was rejected and the company was ordered to immediately begin changes in plant and equipment which will improve the service.

Weekly reports of progress in these improvements must be made to the commission.

No increases in electric light and power rates or in street car fares will be permitted until the gas service is improved, the commission ruled. It was the first time that the commission has ever held up increased rates in one department of a utility until improvements are made in another department.

The order was signed at noon today in Madison.

Following is the commission's ruling in part:

"Testimony given in the hearing on the application for increased rates on gas service held in Neenah and Menasha showed that the service being rendered there is totally inadequate. Standards established by the commission as to quality and service are not complied with. It was testified at the hearing and admitted by the company, through its witnesses that this service is very unsatisfactory and inadequate. Our service department advises that the plant and equipment is inadequate and does not comply with the standards set by the commission. Gas service as rendered by the company to Neenah and Menasha, was particularly inadequate, witnesses said and the company admitted.

"The testimony showed that the total gas holder capacity of the company is 400,000 cubic feet. It was also shown that on certain days the demand is 500,000 cubic feet which means that in 24 hours the holder capacity was used five times over. It was evident that the gas served by the company is out of proportion to the capacity of its holders. That there should be a new and larger holder somewhere near the works there can be no doubt. Another smaller holder should also be built in or near Neenah and Menasha. The present facilities of the company are such that reasonable service cannot be expected.

It was testified at the hearing and admitted by the company that electric service in Seymour is unsatisfactory. It was also admitted that several other outlying towns served by the company are receiving unsatisfactory service. It was shown by the testimony that large sums of money have been expended by the company in extension of its electric lines and in addition to its electric generating plant. The gas property appears to have been neglected to a large extent which makes it practically impossible to render reasonable service.

"We find:

"(1) That gas service rendered by the company to the community is inadequate and unsatisfactory.

"(2) That no increase in rates for gas service shall be granted until such service rendered by the gas department shall comply with the standards laid down by the commission.

"(3) That no increase in rates for the electric and street railway departments shall be granted until it is shown that the service rendered in respect to electric service is satisfactory and the burden of proof for so doing shall rest upon the company.

"(4) That no increase in any department shall be granted until improvements shall be made and satisfactory assurances given concerning the quality and service rendered in all of the utility departments.

CONGRESS IS CONFRONTED BY HUGE PROGRAM

Leaders, However, Plan to Transact Only Routine Business Until March 4.
ADJOURN IN HALF HOUR
Arrangement Follows Speech by Harding and Notification of Wilson.

Washington—Congress is again in session. The two houses met at noon with the next president of the United States, Senator Harding, in his place in the senate.

Harding was the magnet that made the senate wing of the capitol the goal of the crowds. His entrance into the senate caused a demonstration by senators and spectators lasting several minutes. When Harding answered his name on the roll call there was more applause.

Speaker Gillett called the house to order at noon.

Vice-President Marshall let his gavel fall a moment later. There was nearly a full attendance of senators and representatives.

House galleries also were crowded but long lines were in the house where the main events were the swearing in of new members and the appointment of a committee to notify the president.

Greeting for Harding. Entering the chamber to the accompaniment of applause by his colleagues and crowded galleries, Harding was called to the rostrum for a speech a few minutes after the senate got underway.

The senate adjourned at 12:30, immediately after Harding finished speaking.

Before the president-elect spoke, Senator Hoffman, of Alabama, and Senator Glass, of Virginia, were sworn in and resolutions were adopted notifying President Wilson and the house that the senate was ready for business.

The house meanwhile entered on its session without any unusual events. Calling of the roll consumed a long time and then the same resolutions were adopted as in the senate.

The session adjourned until tomorrow. The committee named by the two houses to visit the White House was made up of Senators Lodge, Massachusetts, and Underwood, Alabama. Representatives Clark, Missouri, Mondell, Wyoming, and Mann, Illinois.

For many members of both house and senate, the new session marked the beginning of the end of political careers. Many figures prominent in Washington life were defeated in the last election and will become private citizens after March 4.

Faced by heavier demands for legislation than any congress since the one that declared war on Germany, leaders of both branches have openly adopted a program that calls for the transaction of only the most routine business until the calling of the proposed special session.

Harding Pleads For Senate Cooperation

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—President-elect Harding today addressed the senate as a member of that body, setting a new precedent in American history.

He told his colleagues in a brief, informal talk that while he would always be mindful of the senate's place and responsibilities in the government, he would also remember and expect the senate to remember that he was president.

Harding requested cooperation, declaring that it was not necessary for either the congress or the executive to surrender to the other.

He also urged the senate to make the remaining three months of the Wilson administration a "fruitful time" instead of so much waste.

His speech was made after Senator Lodge, republican, asked the chair to recognize the "senator from Ohio."

"For the first time a member of this body has been elected president," he said. "He is here and I venture to suggest he may be recognized by the chair to speak informally to the senate before he leaves service here."

IMMIGRANT B.L. TAKES PRECEDENCE

Dozens of Bills Are Waiting for Action at Short Congress Session.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—A bill to suspend immigration for two years was one of the first to be introduced in congress as it convened today.

This measure which probably will be one of the first to be acted upon because of the alarming increase in immigration, was placed in the "bill basket" on Speaker Gillett's desk by Representative Johnson, Washington.

Next in importance was the bill of Representative Volstead, Minnesota, chairman of the judiciary committee, providing for repeal of the war legislation. Big piles of bills were on the desks of Vice-President Marshall, in the senate, and Speaker Gillett in the house.

Several bills were introduced to aid farmers during the present price decline. Senator Capper, Kansas, suggested a prohibitive tax of 10 per cent on all dealings in cotton and grain futures.

SEEK TO AVOID ABRUPT BREAK NEXT MARCH 4

Wilson and His Aides Ready to Confer With New Administration.
LEAGUE STATUS PUZZLES
Wilson May Make Compromise Suggestions to Senate in His Message.

By David Lawrence
Washington, D. C.—The gap in government between the Wilson and Harding administrations will be bridged, Senator Harding will call at the White House to pay his respects.

Conferences between members of the future cabinet and the present executives of the different government departments will come subsequent to the announcement of new cabinet personnel.

The response of republican as well as democratic editors to the suggestions of close cooperation between the outgoing and incoming administrations for the best interests of the whole country has been almost unanimously favorable.

President Wilson himself is said to be ready to tell Senator Harding all the facts of foreign relations as they have been conveyed to him so that in mapping out his own foreign policy, the president-elect shall have the benefit of the latest information concerning the true attitude of foreign governments.

The president is being urged, moreover, to send the treaty of Versailles back to the senate. It is true that the senate once adopted a resolution saying it could not be ratified in its present form but the important happenings at Geneva have altered the whole face of things. The unanimous interpretation given officially at Geneva by the assembly of the league that article 10 did not mean a guarantee of territorial integrity as has been suggested in the debates in the American senate but simply refers to external aggression has been looked upon by friends of the president as a good omen.

The statement moreover of Denmark that she could not furnish troops for a certain purpose called for by the league's council is also regarded as a precedent that will bolster up the view taken by Mr. Wilson heretofore concerning the freedom of action of every nation on the subject of military aid.

Issue Up to Harding
But there is no suspicion here that Mr. Wilson will try to foist his views about the league on Mr. Harding. The latter will decide for himself whether the league is a dead issue or not and what he will do about it. On the other hand, the particular problem before the president as seen by friends of the league is that unless he sends the treaty and covenant back to the senate, there will be nothing before that body. It is suggested, for example, that it would be difficult for Mr. Harding to send the treaty to the senate without first arranging with other powers for changes. Also the view is being urged upon the president that full responsibility for the failure to ratify the treaty would rest upon the senate if he sent the document to the upper house with his own suggestions of changes that could be made to satisfy criticisms made heretofore.

Indeed, it would occasion no surprise if Mr. Wilson, realizing his defeat at the last election, would at last make a compromise suggestion and leave it to the republican senate to approve or reject but furnishing at any rate a basis for a continuance of the discussion.

Don't Want It Now
The republicans themselves would prefer that Mr. Wilson forget about the treaty and keep it in a pigeonhole until Senator Harding gets inside the White House and begins cleaning up his desk and examining his files. They are fearful that the demand in the next few weeks will be for legislation to afford relief to the farmers of the West, the cotton growers of the South and agriculturalists generally. The clash between the city and the farm is a serious one. The attitude of the treasury department may be said to reflect President Wilson's views.

THREE BOYS CONFESS TO SLAYING GROCER

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis—Three boys, two of them brothers, today confessed to the murder of James A. Borte, 52, Wednesday night while attempting to rob his grocery, according to Chief of Police Walker.

Percy Almes, 18, is said to have confessed to doing the shooting. He said his brother, Donald, and Raoul Carlson, 17, were not to blame.

WORLD WAR BLAMED FOR 75 PER CENT OF COST OF GOVERNMENT

LEHIGH VALLEY COAL COMBINE IS CALLED ILLEGAL
Supreme Court Rules Big Coal Company Violates Anti-Trust Laws.
DECISION IS UNANIMOUS
All Justices Agree That Lehigh Company Is Guilty of Wrong Practice.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The supreme court today ordered a dissolution of the Lehigh Valley railroad coal combine on the grounds that it has existed in violation of the anti-trust laws.

Justice Clarke read the decision of the court.

The decision was a complete victory for the federal government, the court holding that the combination had resulted in a restraint of interstate commerce and violation of the commodity clause of the antitrust statutes.

The case was one of the famous anthracite coal suits, the other against the Reading railroad combine being decided favorably to the government.

The Lehigh Valley combine was alleged to control the anthracite coal supply of the middle Pennsylvania or Lehigh Valley field. As the result of the decree, the Lehigh Valley railroad company, the Lehigh Valley coal company, the Lehigh Valley coal sales company, Cox Brothers and company, Inc., The Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill Railroad company must sever their interlocking connections and become separate business units.

The court dismissed the proceedings against the New York and Middle Coal Field company, the G. B. Markie company, and the Grand Trust company, alleged to be part of the combine.

It was alleged that independent lines along the Lehigh railroad were discriminated against until forced from business. Mines owned by the road were served more promptly with cars and received secret rebates.

Lower courts decided against the government.

The decision of the court was unanimous, one of the few times a unanimous decision has been rendered in an anti-trust case. Justices Brandeis and McKeen took no part in the consideration of the case.

Justice Clarke announced that Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes, while concurring in the decision did so because of previous decisions of the court and not because of their present views.

HAMON WOMAN MAY HAVE ENDED LIFE

Search for Alleged Slayer Is Extended Into Texas Prairie Towns.

By United Press Leased Wire
Ardmore, Okla.—Search for Clara Smith Hamon, wanted in connection with the death of Jake L. Hamon, millionaire oil man and politician, extended into the by-ways and prairies of Texas towns today.

Alarmed over the vanishing of Hamon's protegee, officials here have decided to investigate the theory that the missing woman may have killed herself.

According to reports received here today county Prosecutor Russell Brown had requested federal officials at Muskogee to charge Clara Hamon with violation of the Mann act.

Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, widow, was to leave today for Oklahoma City.

Joy Riders 'Borrow' Sweethearts And Car

City Chaps 'Beat Up' Country Lad Because He Objects to Their Actions.

Appropriating two farmer boys' sweethearts for themselves, taking them for a long joy ride all over the countryside against the will of the young ladies in the automobile owned by one of the farmer boys and then "beating up" the car owner because he protested, two Appleton town young men, found they had carried matters too far and spent the night in the city lockup.

The two boys placed under arrest by Officer Ratzman and Detective Schmirler were Harry LaFond, 1684 Adams street, and Alvin Boehms, 1016 Packard street. A third boy, Earl LaFond, was arrested Monday morning by Detective Duval for participating in the fight.

The scene of the battle royal was in front of Carr and Hanson's billiard parlor on College avenue Sunday afternoon. Henry Kerns, Greenville, and Joseph Garvey, 478 Cherry street, drove up to the curb in Kern's automobile, which also contained Miss Marie Hoopman, Greenville and Miss Bernice Murphy, 486 Cherry street. The two young men desired to attend the Elthe theatre but the young ladies preferred to ride.

Giving consent to the girls to drive about in the machine until they returned from the show, the young men left. One of the girls started the machine but had difficulty in backing out from the curb to get under way. Harry LaFond and Boehms stepped up and offered their assistance. Both climbed into the car and instead of getting it onto the roadway as supposed, they are alleged to have started away against the wishes of the young ladies. They drove to several outlying towns and insisted on helping themselves to a joy ride.

LEAGUE REFUSES TO CHANGE RULES

Argentina's Protest Goes Unheeded and She Withdraws From League.

Geneva—The league of nations assembly today refused to conciliate the Argentine delegation which withdrew Saturday.

The assembly voted unanimously to refer proposed amendments to the covenant to a commission which will report to the 1921 assembly.

The amendments included those which Argentine demanded should be acted upon immediately withdrawal of the delegation being the alternative. The Canadian attempt to strike out or amend Article 10 also was assigned to the commission.

The Argentine delegation was absent when the plenary session convened this morning.

MRS. OLESEN SEES DAWN OF NEW DAY FOR WEARY WORLD

Woman Orator Holds Big Audience Spellbound in Lawrence Chapel.

MANY REFORMS ARE NEEDED

Forum Speaker Raps Cigarette Evil and Pleads for Community Spirit.

The world has made marvelous progress materially, but there is a danger that in partaking of the good things in the 20th century we have been hand intellectually and spiritually. The dawn of a new day is at hand, however. Removal of the liquor curse and granting of suffrage to the women of the world are examples.

So spoke Mrs. Annie Dickie Olesen, Cloquet, Minn., to more than 1,000 people at a meeting of the People's Forum at Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening. Mrs. Olesen was everything that was claimed for her and more. Speaking with a fervor, she held her audience in an emotional breathlessness that did not relax for a moment until her last sentence was uttered.

"The question we are all asking is 'Am I my brother's keeper?'" she said. "We are in the great new consciousness if we answer it in the affirmative. There have been easier times than today, wrote better literature or lived in a great age of chivalry. But the 20th century appeals to the imagination and emotion more than any other. We shall think of the humanitarian movement when the history of the great century is written. of the time when men are thinking of better living conditions for all people."

New Vision of Love

Nations are answering the question as to whether they are the keepers of the smaller nations, she said, and so the question comes to the individual. We think in terms larger than self when we answer in the affirmative. We have caught the new vision of human love which Christ had of old, which Socrates proclaimed in his day. Out of the war came a new consciousness. Women thought in terms of a starving world rather than the four walls of their kitchen. Nations have come out of their four walled castles. That spirit must not die, she declared.

Many are not as community minded as they should be, but in the 20th century people must catch more of this. Many live back in the 13th century mentally and spiritually, while materially they are up in the 20th century demanding everything that the nations can produce. Man has conquered distance with the telephone and the airplane. We are proud that we all want the things that are bringing us closer together. The danger is that we partake of the good things in the 20th century, but we lag mentally and spiritually. We must come into full power in this century.

Referring to the preamble to the constitution of the United States in which it reads that all men are entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, she stated that it was America's creed, her national religion.

ELLINGTON MAN FINDS IRON ORE ON HIS LAND

The town of Ellington boasts an iron mine, but it is too small to be a commercial possibility. Anthony Wallace had about two acres of soil on his land of a bright red color that seemed out of the ordinary.

Not knowing just what it might be, whether gold or something else, Mr. Wallace sent a sample of the soil to the state geologist at Madison. It was found to be iron ore of a low grade. It is not of sufficient quantity to be salable as such, but may possibly be sold to a paint company to be used for ochre.

She termed it the new social consciousness and the vision of the future. It means that we are thinking not in terms of self, but of all humanity.

Some of the enemies of democracy were defeated in the war, Mrs. Olesen continued, but all are not dead. She described in glowing terms the war of democracy against liquor, showing how America had thrown off its yoke in passing the prohibition amendment, how Russia had become a thinking nation instead of a drunken nation when the czar banned vodka, thus bringing his doom as an autocrat; how "China had thrown off the opium curse and had become a republic making rapid strides."

"For the first time in the 20th century women stand shoulder to shoulder with men," she stated. "England stepped forth and led the world, and now the women of the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Sweden and other nations are voting. There is a new light in our eyes, a new hope for the future. I would rather be a voting citizen of the United States than any royal woman who sat on any royal throne."

Mrs. Olesen then turned to a discussion of needed reforms. She said that the voting women of the nation and the world were standing for reform. One law they intend to pass will permit women to keep their citizenship, whether they marry men of foreign nations or not, providing the women are born in America.

A meeting of women of the world in Switzerland discussed what the women would do next, now that they have the vote. They heard the cry of the starving world and decided they would feed it. They aimed to put an end forever to international warfare.

Help Starving Children

"In Armenia thousands of children are starving," said Mrs. Olesen. "What are we going to do to Christ-mas? In the name of the Saviour, in the name of the new love of mankind, we should give to the starving children abroad. You have not served the Master, unless you have sent some of your money you give to the starving children of Armenia."

The speaker mentioned some of the women who have made supreme sacrifice for humanity and then turned to a plea for a league of nations or some world organization that would avert war. She said she did not believe that the idea would ever be deserted, that you cannot kill an idea. She prayed that this idea against war may last around the world and that the men at Switzerland may fight out this new thing for the enforcement of peace.

Fights Cigarette

The welfare of the children at home was dwelt upon in detail by Mrs. Olesen. She decried the cigarette evil and pleaded for law enforcement. There must be community motherhood and fatherhood and people must be community-minded in the 20th century. The very best men should be elected. Movies should be censored to stop the teachings that are thrown before 8,000,000 people on the screen every day. The people were admonished to rule their own households and consider the welfare of their boys and girls as paramount.

Lastly she said America must keep her ideals of religion if she is to be great. The fight for material things comes from lack of religion. We are forgetting the things which make America great. We must cleave to the ideals of righteousness which our forefathers taught and stand by the things that are good. We must forget our differences, for that is essentially American.

Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Scott and Mrs. H. E. Tickers left Saturday for their home in San Diego, Calif., after attending the funeral of the late Herman Erb.

PUBLIC CAN HELP MAIL DELIVERIES

Postal Employees Ready to Do Their Share During Holiday Rush.

Fast and efficient handling of mail during the holiday rush was the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the Appleton postoffice association Saturday evening at the federal building.

Good fellowship was stimulated by a supper served in the swing room. Officials, clerks and carriers then got down to the problem of doing many times the usual amount of work with about the same help and facilities as during normal periods. Ways and means for conserving space and energy were suggested. The force is confident that there need be no disappointments in making Christmas deliveries if patrons will lend the proper cooperation.

It was emphasized that the people of Appleton and the rural sections could relieve the burden if they would take the "mail early" gospel to heart. There will be an avalanche of mail coming from the outside for local people that will in itself entail a huge task. It was felt that if every package mailed from here could be sent three or four days before Christmas, leaving the employees free to handle only incoming mail, the problem would be solved by the public itself and there would be no need of delays.

Herman Franck, assistant postmaster, reported that display cards had been placed in most of the business places containing the admonition "Mail early, wrap securely and address plainly."

A highly interesting discussion of the life of Patrick Henry was given by Edwin Pollock as a special program feature. A committee was appointed, consisting of Herman Schneider and Joseph Grossberger, to arrange a family gathering of the employees sometime in January. It was announced that M. S. Peerenboom would give an address at the next meeting.

OSHKOSH POULTRY MEN HERE TO BOOST SHOW

Ten members of the Oshkosh Poultry association were in Appleton yesterday advertising the Oshkosh poultry show which is scheduled January 6 to 8. The boosters were entertained by members of the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association at Moore hall. The local members also assisted in advertising the Oshkosh show and made arrangements for co-operating with the Sawdust city men.

It was agreed that from 50 to 100 birds exhibited at Oshkosh shall also be exhibited at the show here and that Appleton exhibitors will send their birds to Oshkosh. In that way both shows will be made better.

Among the men who were here Sunday were H. Hassinger, H. H. Nettkoven, Charles Shea, R. W. Haveman, C. Barker, F. Meuzel, W. H. Reimer, John Edwards, George Willis and Charles Groth. Mr. Willis is a poultry judge and had officiated at several shows here. Mr. Shea was formerly a resident of this city.

FIRST READING CIRCLE INSTITUTE THIS WEEK

The first reading circle institute for the southeastern section of the county will be held at the training school building at Kaukauna, Saturday, Dec. 11. The program will open at ten o'clock in the morning. The work will be based on "Reading" in Monroe's "Measuring the Results of Teaching." "What It Means to Measure Ability" will be discussed by A. G. Meating; "Use of Word Study and Phrasing," F. S. Welch; "The Graph, an Interesting Device," W. P. Harman; "New Construction Work," Miss Peacock; "Reading-New Thought-Getting Devices," Miss Conney; Giving the Tests, Scores, Etc.," A. G. Meating.

Reading circle credit for Monroe's book will be given entirely upon institute attendance this year and credit on this book is necessary. Members were requested not to read ahead of institute assignments. About three meetings will be held to cover the work in hand.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney, makes it sluggish and filters out only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel all aches in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediments, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the best of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. adv.

OLDHAM EXPECTED AT HOLSTEIN MEET

Many Important Matters Slated for Annual Meeting of Breeders.

L. L. Oldham of Madison, state field secretary of the Wisconsin Holstein-Friesian Breeders association will be in Appleton Thursday, December 16 for the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association. He will assist the breeders to devise ways of pushing pure bred Holstein production in the county.

The breeders plan to hold their business sessions at the court house. They will discuss the prospects for a spring sale and means of advertising the Holstein cattle of this county. They will make definite arrangements to extend the association's activities. The problem of ridding cattle of tuberculosis will occupy a prominent place on the program. The question of boycotting the sale of oleomargarine, especially among the farmers will probably be taken up. The aim will be to push the sale of butter and other dairy products in preference to substitutes. Officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welter of Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Grimmer of Fond du Lac, visited relatives here Sunday.

Elmer Goodland spent Sunday in Ashkosh.

Walter Finch of Ashkosh, was a business visitor here Saturday.

OVER EIGHTY, BUT KOZAK QUICKLY BENEFITS HIM

"I want all my friends to know how Kozak quickly gave me relief from my nervousness, pains in the back and stomach trouble," said John C. Lyons, a well known retired farmer of Fond du Lac, who is past eighty years old. He lives with his niece, Mrs. W. U. Owens at 15 E. Division street.

"A friend recently recommended Kozak to me," said Mr. Lyons. "I had told him how I was suffering from stomach trouble, nervousness, and severe pains in the back. My lower limbs were weak and I had been troubled with gas on the stomach, dizziness and distress after eating. Well, I took Kozak. Almost immediately I noticed that the pains in my back were not nearly so severe, I was not so nervous and I was no longer troubled with gas on the stomach. I got relief from the dizziness and I feel much improved generally. I got the above benefits from taking just one bottle. Kozak is sure doing me a lot of good and I am telling all my friends about it. Mrs. Owens can verify my statements."

Kozak, the $10,000 Formula, sold here by Schlitz Bros. In New London by Spearbraker, Hortonville, by Gitter, Neenah by Marsh Bros.; Kaukauna Drug Co. Sent prepaid upon receipt of $1.25. adv.

Duck Hunters Use Skis On Soft Bogs

The ski market jumped during the duck season which closed last week. Appleton hardware dealers sold several pairs to men who go to the duck marshes every year.

The story was abroad that skis were being used quite successfully to prevent the hunter from sinking into the treacherous bog where he was forced to go to bag his prize.

Those who tried the skis, however, soon found that they were of little use as a substitute for the skiff.

Mark Catlin, president of the Wisconsin Fish and Game Protective association, says that there is truth to the story. "The idea of using skis for duck hunting is as old as the hills. But it requires a different form of ski than those which are on sale in the hardware stores. The skis a hunter uses are not on the market, they must be made."

"I have a pair that I made out of a 12 foot cedar board. They are 12 feet long, and about 7 or 8 inches wide. They are shaped just like an ordinary ski. The front comes to a point and is turned up like a sleigh runner. The height of the bend is about one foot and a half. The height ranges on different skis from one foot to 30 inches."

"The hunters foot is placed near the front end, and when he walks, he merely lifts up the front of the ski, and tramples anything in front of him."

The bend has to be high. If it were like the ordinary ski, the runner would be continually running under the matted grass, and the hunter would have a nice time trying to keep on his feet. Rice grass in the marshes is sometimes eight or nine feet high, but with these skis one can trample a path thru it."

Not very many hunters own these skis. They do not care to make them, and that is the only way they can be obtained. Mr. Catlin says that they have an advantage over the skiff, because one can get into a pot hole where there is no visible water route. He says that one can also travel over the bogs where a skiff could not get thru and where it would be dangerous to try and walk thru.

HAYTON COMPANY WORKS OVERTIME

New Concern Has All the Work It Can Possibly Take Care Of.

The Hayton Pump and Blower company, located in the former Killian Strait building in the First ward is one of the busiest plants in the city and is sending its pumps all over the country. One New York City contract which has just been awarded to it calls for 200 pumps which will keep the men working overtime for some time to come. The company recently installed one of its pumps in the Appleton pumping station and is now at work upon a second that has just been ordered.

"We could keep our plant busy on municipal work alone," said J. E. Bond, vice president and manager, "but that is not our policy. We are building pumps of all sizes up to a capacity of 25,000 gallons per minute for all sorts of work and are now getting out three that are to be used for drainage purposes along the Illinois river. We are also building several for drainage purposes nearer home."

The company is turning out two styles of pumps, one known as the Sandusky Triplex and the other as the Hayton Centrifugal pump. Each can be adapted to almost any kind of work. Many of these pumps are being installed in paper mills all over the country while those of the heavier type are being used by drainage districts. The company has lately found it necessary to increase the size of its foundry to accommodate its rapidly growing business. The company started in business less than two years ago with only a few employees and now has fifty men on its payroll.

World Has Learned Lesson Of Tolerance

V. I. Minnahan, Green Bay Attorney, Delivers Elk Memorial Address.

The memorial service is part of the creed of the Elks. Mr. Minnahan said, because their creed will not permit them to forget the departed.

"The most perfect system of life of which we know is the one that uses a creed of sympathy and patience and affection as the torch to light the pathway, and when the principles of that creed are carried out, the heart sob at the tomb is as materially softened as it can be."

"As your eyes travel over the pages of history from that dim period down to the present day, you will be startled with the similarity of all things at all times. Mental cleverness has produced many and various inventions and we are prone to believe and to say that we are now living in a period of the highest civilization of the human race. It is true that we are living in a vastly different manner than our forefathers lived, but is it true that there is any remarkable difference in either the beliefs, the customs, or the notions of the people?"

"Civilization advances and retreats. It moves in and out like the ebb and flow of a monstrous tide. Betterment is made here and there. Conditions grow worse at other points. Advancement is made in the science and methods of warfare, but still we have war. Some diseases are better understood and more easily prevented, and still we have pestilence. Human experience dictates to us wherein our laws may be improved, but still we have injustice almost intolerable."

"A study of the past but convinces us that the story of man is more wonderful than we have thought, the path which he has followed is longer and more toilsome than we ever imagined, the advancement made is less than we have pretended, but the hope in the future, thank Heaven, is as great as ever."

MUCH INTEREST IN MUSICAL PROGRAM

Prokofieff-Hoyt Concert Regarded as One of Finest of Series.

Appleton music lovers believe that the third number of the Appleton Community Lecture and Artist series to be presented Wednesday night by Serge Prokofieff, pianist, and Mrs. Emma Patten-Hoyt, soprano, will be one of the feature programs of the series and are preparing to attend in large numbers. Tickets are now on sale at the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Prokofieff is an interesting figure in the music world and his two appearances here in recital were productive of an exhilaration and a pleasure that the majority of piano recitals do not afford. He grips attention the moment he appears on the stage and he does not loosen it until he has completed his performance.

The Stage

Vaudeville Program
A program of unusual excellence is occupying the boards at Appleton theatre the first half of this week. Miss Louise Gilbert, soprano, is easily the feature. Her voice entitles her to a place on the concert stage and her selection of numbers stamps her as a real musician. The Syncopated dancers, a troupe of four, is also excellent.

Hitchy Koo

Play patrons will welcome the long and eagerly awaited announcement that Raymond Hitchcock will present his surpassing Musical Comedy Revue "Hitchy-Koo" direct from its triumphal run of one solid year in New York, at the Appleton Theatre Wednesday, Dec. 8.

Not since the "Merry Widow" or "Florodora" has any musical offering even approached the record breaking popularity of the second edition of "Hitchy-Koo." Never in all the history of musical attractions on the New York stage has any firm of theatrical entertainment ever attained the instantaneous and lasting popularity of this timely merry and timely revue. Even the hitherto unequalled patronage accorded the Ziegfeld Follies was far surpassed both in the record of capacity business and duration of the engagement.

The entire New York production of fourteen scenes and eighteen songs will be seen here precisely as presented in Manhattan for over fifty consecutive weeks with such well-known players as Stan Stanley, Jack Biano, Piffle Trio, Frank Cornelli, John Haw, Artie Leveaux, Juanita Cunningham, Wood Sisters, Ruth Downey, Olie Northlane, Bagley Sisters, Frank Miller, Baby Josephine, Helen Stanley, Bonita DeGaulier, Ruth Weston, The sixteen Sweet Sixteens, and Hitchy's own Syncopated Orchestra.

FLORIDA LAW PROTECTS APPLETON LAND OWNER

While at Avon, Fla., twelve years ago, Mrs. Nettie E. Peterson of this city purchased two building lots on which she had neglected to pay the taxes for several years. Two weeks ago, just after she had forwarded sufficient funds to pay the taxes up to the present time, she received a letter from a Trust company of that city informing her that the property had been sold to pay the taxes. The laws of Florida are such that a clear title cannot be given to property if the taxes are paid by the original owner within a week after it is sold and it was this statute that protected Mrs. Peterson. The Trust company has written the owner inquiring if she would sell the property which has since become valuable and a sale is now pending thru her attorney.

APPLETON MAN GETS CONTRACT IN FLORIDA

Z. H. Smith, who went to St. Cloud, Fla., several weeks ago, has just been awarded the contract of remodeling a building which the Odd Fellows of that city purchased. The work will take him the greater part of the winter. In a letter to Appleton friends he says that the weather is warm and that he seldom wears a coat. Labor is very scarce and in demand. Fruit is plentiful and oranges that sell for 60 and 70 cents a dozen here can be purchased there for 12 cents. The city is filled with summer visitors and it is almost impossible to get accommodations either in hotels or private homes. Mr. Smith writes that the Stowe brothers have engaged in the electrical business at Orlando, Fla.

WANTS ALL SCHOOLS ON RED CROSS HONOR ROLL

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, who had charge of the Junior Red Cross campaign in the county schools, has sent out a notice to all the teachers of the county that he intended to hold back his report for a few days to give the schools that have not reported an opportunity to be included. He requested those that have not already done so to send in their subscriptions to the Junior Red Cross News at once which enrolls the school and entitles each pupil to a pin.

APPLETON HAS WONDERFUL COMPOSER

The ear of the composer, somewhere in the infinite, hears sounds denied the rest of us; and such has been proven in the two wonderful compositions by Gladys Brewster Arnold, an Appleton composer of music and words just published.

"Fading Leaves a Meditation for the piano, is like the soul of the world transformed into music sweet and pure."

"De Land Where De Cotton Grows, a song telling of the South as the eye of the composer saw it and her ear heard it, is the South breathing of its flowers, its sunshine, even the crooning of this affecting harmony of words and music."

Mrs. Arnold has these compositions now on sale at Carroll's Music Shop adv.

JACK BENNETT NOW A CHICAGO INVESTIGATOR

"I have been very busy as a police investigator for the mayor's office for two years," says Jack Bennett of Chicago, formerly of Appleton, in a letter to John Reek. "It is a political job and I got it thru being acquainted with Mayor Thompson," he said.

Mr. Bennett stated that on Monday, Dec. 6, he was to be promoted to the new state attorney's office as second assistant investigator. "The Thompson organization elected everyone from Governor Small down," said Mr. Bennett, "so there are a lot of good jobs to be handed out as soon as they take office."

According to Mr. Bennett government agents are busy closing cabarets and saloons and he expects that they will be out of business soon.

KAUKAUNA CHILDREN MUST BE VACCINATED

A mild epidemic of small pox is becoming apparent in Kaukauna. Dr. W. N. Nolan, city physician, has ordered that all school children must submit to vaccination. The doctor also advised that similar precaution be taken by adults of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Sensesbrenner and children, who have been making their home at Ladysmith for the last eight years, have returned to Menasha where they will again take up their residence.

CICERO LEADS COUNTY IN GERMAN AID PLEDGES

Outagamie county is responding very liberally to the campaign for funds for the starving children of Germany. Cicero heads the towns that have so far reported with $787; the town of Ellington comes next with $450 and the town of Dale is a close third with $300. Coming nearer home the Sixth ward of Appleton has subscribed $1,300 and the Fifth ward, $600. The other wards have not yet sent in their reports.

Raymond Moore of Milwaukee was an Appleton visitor Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Richardson and daughter Marie returned Sunday night from a week's visit with relatives in Chicago.

Miss Irene Tutro spent Sunday with Kaukauna friends.

Joseph Spilker and Otto Schrimpf visited friends at Little Chute Sunday.

THE LEAGUE DIFFERENCES

The League of nations is undergoing its first test of practicability. Broadly speaking all nations theoretically desire peace and favor means for promoting or enforcing it. But all do not agree upon the methods to be employed. Some would go farther than others in the application of pressure or force. Some may not desire even the use of force. Some favor throwing the doors open and admitting every nation, regardless of status, responsibility or character of government. That seems to be Argentina's position, and it is an unreasonable position. Argentina's representative in the assembly may be justified in withdrawing from its deliberations because debate of his proposed amendments was refused, but Argentina herself has not withdrawn from the League and can do so only upon two years' notice. Of course notice of withdrawal is equivalent to withdrawal in many of its effects, but there are nevertheless some obligations which are not extinguished. Argentina would be foolish to quit the League merely because it cannot impose its views upon the assembly. That would be merely an exhibition of pique and pique is unbecoming the dignity of any member of an organization gathered together for such great purposes. It is well that all the nations assembled in the interest of world peace are not so volatile and hot-headed, else the movement itself might wind up in war.

It is for the League as a whole to say whether all nations, including Germany, Mexico, Russia, Turkey, etc., shall be permitted membership at this time, and not for any one member or group of members. If the leading powers the allies for instance, oppose the proposal they doubtless have good reasons growing out of the late war, and considerations of this character must predominate for some time to come whether the by-standers like it or not.

The amendment offered by Canada that article Ten be stricken from the covenant opens the way for serious consideration of this change. In view of the attitude of the United States and the moral certainty that it will not enter the League and be bound by this much mooted article, there would seem to be no question as to the wisdom of striking it out. The League can function effectively for peace without article Ten, possibly even more effectively, for the simple reasons that nations are more susceptible to moral and ethical appeals than to commands, even though the command is within their own hands. Repeal of article Ten will pave the way to American membership, and it is clear that the more critical phase of world peace cannot be advanced without the assistance and cooperation of the United States.

The Wisconsin branch of the Society of Equity closed its state convention with appropriate acts that commend it to public approval. It gave expression in no uncertain manner to its opposition to the Non-Partisan league by ordering printed in the official publication of the Society the text of the speech of M. P. Johnson of North Dakota, exposing the operations of the Non-Partisan league in that state and denouncing its socialistic program. The issue between the league and tested American institutions is one which must be fought out to a finish, and it is well to know that the most influential organization of farmers in Wisconsin stands on the side of responsible government.

Reference should also be made to the convention's cordial attitude toward Senator Lenroot, whose efforts in behalf of the Lakes-to-the-Ocean waterway project were indorsed. Mr. Lenroot was a special object of attack by the Non-Partisan league in the recent election, and it is well to know that his great work in promoting the deep waterway undertaking, which means so much to the state of Wisconsin, is appreciated. Farmers will be among the chief beneficiaries of the improvement that will make ocean ports of Wisconsin cities, for it will give their products direct access to the world markets. Senator Lenroot needs the support of organizations like the Society of Equity, and their active interest in this improvement will help to insure its authorization.

AMERICA IN DELICATE POSITION

The visit of Mrs. McSwiney, widow of the late lord mayor of Cork, to the United States is inaugurated under conditions which seem to insure its tremendous success for intensifying American sympathy for the cause of Irish freedom. Mrs. McSwiney comes upon a perfectly legitimate errand so far as this purpose is concerned. She has a right to seek the good-will of the American people for fighting Ireland, and she will receive from them a spontaneous welcome. Indeed, she will receive far more than this, for assistance will be offered her and her country in substantial form. Doubtless many will wish to volunteer for service in Ireland against Great Britain. And finally, there is little question that partially as a result of her visit and partially as a result of the inquiry of the committee of 100, renewed efforts will be made at Washington and in congress to commit the government to some course of support to the Irish rebellion.

It is obvious therefore that Mrs. McSwiney's arrival in America is a matter of much moment, and that it is pregnant with large possibilities. The Irish appeal is a forceful one. It goes to the heart. It strikes deep down in human emotions. But for all that we must not be stampeded into acts or into a position which makes the Irish cause the American cause. There is a fundamental difference between moral or even material aid of the Irish republic by American citizens and aid by the American government. The former may go far in their manifestations of sympathy, but the latter can do nothing. We could not engage in war with Great Britain for the sake of Ireland, no matter how greatly we might wish to see Ireland free.

We must be on our guard in this delicate situation. The investigations of the committee of 100 are close to the border line of violated neutrality. They are nothing perhaps to which official Britain can take exception, but they are not likely to set well with the British people. We can sympathize with Ireland without offending Great Britain; at least we can do so without endangering our peaceful relations with her. We know there are politicians at Washington who let their hearts run away with their heads, and we must have protection against this peril. All that we do for Ireland, all that we feel for Ireland, must be kept within the bounds of international propriety and the amenities of international relationship.

He Scoofs at Riches

"I've heard some folks," said Uncle Ichabod, "Has got a million dollars in their wad. Well, sir, they got my sympathy, I'll say, With that much money tryin' to get away. And how they keep it all I've often wondered, Seem' it's so darned hard to keep a hundred."

"Some rich bugs have a dozen suits or more, I'm glad I ain't. It sure would make me sore To have more trousseurs than a Turkish harem. When there ain't time enough on earth to wear 'em. Two suits for me! and then a feller knows, When Sunday comes, which is his other clo'es."

"There's also folks, at least I'm told there are, What gives ten thousand dollars for a car. Well, sir, when I take out my little fiv', Which takes just all the language I kin give, I'm thankful I don't have to do the fagin' That takes ten thousand dollars' worth ofussin'!"

Worrying Out of a Job

By Roger W. Babson

Jones is one of those people who seem to have been born worrying. He worries about his health, the family and business. In fact the universe in general seems to combine to give him something to worry about.

At the cost of living soared, Jones said they would land in the poorhouse, although he was well paid and had quite a comfortable sum in the bank.

When some of the men where he worked were discharged, he commenced to worry about losing his job. He talked about it every night, and thought of it in the morning.

One day he was fired. The thing he had feared had come upon him. His employer had noticed for some time that a grouchy he was. He had really worried himself out of a job, but of course he didn't know it.

Then, one day he happened to go to an inspiring lecture on the uselessness and harm of worry. Jones saw himself as he was, at last, and he wondered how his wife and others had stood him for so long.

He made up his mind to get a good position soon, but that if he didn't he wouldn't worry or become despondent. Result: He got a job in a few days, and his pleasant face and confidence in himself were a great help in getting it.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE GALLSAC

The gallsac or gallbladder, the size and color of a small or trial size lemon, lies just under the edge of the ribs a bit to the west of the depression that marks the tip of the breastbone. It is filled with gall. It has but one nozzle through which it squirts the gall into the main gall channel, which conveys gall from the liver to the intestine. Gall is not a disease, you understand; it is the bile, the natural secretion of the liver. But the gallsac is rather superfluous today, if it ever served any essential purpose in the upright animal. Like other structures which have become more or less superfluous in the course of human progress from the all-four to the fore all state, notably the wisdom teeth, the vermiform appendix and the tonsils, the human gallsac seems to be particularly vulnerable to disease. For which we, the medical profession, may be grateful.

Infection of the lining of the gallsac by various bacteria from various parts of the body produces inflammation, thereof, called for the sake of euphony, cholecystitis, merely the doctor's resounding and ponderous way of saying a few million of the responsible germs in an idle moment get together in a clump, roll around and gather a coating of mucus, which in time becomes coated or plated over with a layer of crystalline material deposited by the bile, then more layers week by week and month by month, until eventually there is a hard body called a gallstone. The delighted physician now terms the trouble cholelithiasis.

A famous Baltimore physician who would be too greatly embarrassed by newspaper publicity recently cited an interesting example of the curious process I have just been describing. He told of the removal from his own person of four large gallstones thirty five years after a typhoid fever attack he had suffered when eight years old, and on cutting through the stones and making cultures from the centres the bacteriologist demonstrated the presence of living typhoid germs.

That's perseverance, even for typhoid bacilli! You see, in typhoid fever the germs are freely eliminated through the bile tract. Months and years after the fever, in some cases, the living germs are still eliminated into the intestine through the bile tract, through the gallsac—and such individuals, to all appearances well and strong, are the typhoid carriers who innocently cause epidemics of typhoid if they have anything to do with handling or preparing food. But what is more to the point here, a considerable share of gallstone cases are encountered in persons who have had typhoid fever (recognized or mistaken for some other illness) in years past.

An individual who has a sack of gallstones in his midst does not necessarily suffer any serious trouble therefrom. In something like one of each ten cases of gallstone disease no symptoms are complained of by the subject.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Graham Cracker Myth

Q.—Will you please tell me to think that, if any food is to be given the baby besides Mother Nature's Peerless Infant Food or the bottle, a Graham cracker is about the simplest and most easily digested thing. As a matter of fact a plain soda cracker is more digestible. Graham crackers contain some indigestible material—they are therefore more laxative than soda crackers but not so completely digested. However, fruit juices and later stewed fruit pulp and well cooked vegetable pulp (strained through a sieve) and fresh meat broths are better foods to begin feeding the baby than any kind of cracker.

Glasses

Q.—Should I wear glasses constantly? I am very near-sighted, but . . .

A.—Yes, glasses every moment when you use the eyes will save the eyes; omitting the glasses with a vague fancy that the eyes need "exercise" or that the glasses weaken the sight will hasten impairment of vision. Wear your glasses every minute of the day if you are near-sighted and wish to retain the best possible vision in later life.

Why Wouldn't She?

Q.—Why should a girl blush constantly? On any and every occasion or rather without occasion my face turns crimson and it makes me just miserable at a dinner or in conversation with old friends even.

A.—ANSWER—I don't see how she can help blushing if she is dressed after the present fashion. Self-consciousness, an attribute of youth, is the only explanation we have for blushing, and aside from growing old our only remedy is the cultivation of outside interests and altruism.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, Dec. 9, 1895

W. Z. Stuart and P. C. Shattuck of Neenah were visiting Appleton friends.

Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Mack returned from their wedding trip and were to make their home on Franklin street.

N. H. Adams, formerly county clerk, accepted a position at the Continental Clothing company's store.

At a whist party the evening previous at the home of Joseph Spitz, Mrs. P. B. Hammel of Kaukauna won first prize and Mrs. Joseph Ullman of Appleton consolation prize.

John Murray and Edward Jacquot of the Health Medicine company, returned from a trip thru the Lake Superior country.

Merchants were complaining that the Christmas trade was dull notwithstanding that they had all laid in large quantities of goods for the holiday season.

City Treasurer Kutler began taking in taxes the previous Saturday. The total amount received was $450.

O'Keefe and Orblison, who had the contract for building the new pulp mill of the Delta Paper and Pulp company at Eau Claire, were buying themselves purchasing the machinery necessary for the new plant.

William E. Simons, son of Mrs. M. J. Simons of Appleton, died of heart disease at his home at Stevens Point at the age of 52 years.

The new steam engine of the Fox River Paper company was started up for the first time the week previous.

Pigs were discovered the evening previous in a shed and chicken coop in the rear of H. Louis' fruit store on College avenue. It was extinguished before any damage was done.

Hubert Ellenbecker died at his home in the town of Center the previous Saturday at the age of 43 years.

LUMBER CARGO SAVES VESSEL

Queensdown, Eng.—With 12 feet of water in her hold and her sails ripped to ribbons by the wind, the three-masted schooner, Marion E. Douglas, limped into port here. For 10 days the schooner was buffeted by the Atlantic and only the fact that she had a cargo of lumber prevented her sinking.

The cathedral of Behmizadzin, Armenia, begun in 301 A. D., is the oldest church in Christendom.

The City Of Angels.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Los Angeles has just passed through the proudest moment of its very proud life. This was when the late United States census estimated the city's population at 575,000, thereby proving it to have about 70,000 more people than San Francisco.

For there is a painful and prodigious rivalry between these two cities of the Pacific Coast, which is most bewildering to the visitor. It is surprising enough to find California, a self-appointed Eden, far removed by climate and other superior attractions from the rest of a pitiful and benighted world, but to find one-half of California claiming superiority over the other half is really too amazing. At least, it is for a mere humble Easterner, unacquainted with the glorious wonders of the state, and permitted only a brief respite from his hapless home in which to find them.

"Oh, you won't like the northern part of the state," you are informed in mentioning that your travels are not to end here in the City of Angels. "It's windy, and it rains most of the time, and the people are mostly like Easterners. No, if you want to see the best of California, you'd better make Los Angeles your headquarters and take various trips to the south where you can enjoy the true California climate."

But upon the same day that you receive this advice, you are apt to meet a north-Californian, unaccountably strayed south, who cherishes an entirely different opinion.

"The real California is on the north of the state," he will tell you scornfully, inferring that only a misguided Easterner would need to be corrected on this point. "The climate here is too warm and enervating—it needs a little wind to stir things up. And all of the scenery is in the north—the Yosemite, Del Monte, Lake Tahoe, Mt. Shasta, and San Francisco. Why, this isn't a city; it's only a country town. And the country is so dry that they have to water it constantly to keep it from drying up and blowing away. They even have to irrigate their harbor here."

The Harbor

But the subject of the Los Angeles Harbor is sufficient to keep a north-Californian talking in scathing accents for an hour. "It's not really theirs," he will tell you, "but belongs to San Pedro. San Pedro is an independent town, but they made it join their township by refusing to supply it with water if it didn't. That's how they got their population, too—making all the little towns about here join—but now that they've got the harbor, what will they do with it? It's not even ornamental."

Yes, Los Angeles has to stand an enormous amount of chaffing about its new harbor from other harbors of California, but it is exceedingly good-natured in defending itself. It is true that Nature, which has been so generous in bestowing gifts on this section, did not give it a harbor, and that, therefore, one had to be made at great expense to the city, but Los Angeles believes that this enterprise was necessary to its development, and that even now it is beginning to pay dividends.

"You see, the city is entering an era of tremendous development," explained one of its prominent citizens, who conducted the reporter about the city. "In 1880 we were only a sleepy Mexican pueblo, with a few American perquisites and a population of only 12,000. Now there are nearly 600,000 of us, and we're attracting the largest industries in the country because of our splendid resources and facilities."

"Within a few miles of the city, nearly one-fourth of the entire oil supply of the United States is produced. The shipment of lubricants and by-products from this port is the greatest of any in the United States. In turn, the port receives more lumber for distribution throughout the Southwest than any other of the nation's harbors."

"From sea to mountains, are vast orchards, grain fields, cattle ranches, orange groves and truck gardens, which furnish material for the greatest canning industry in the world. Large ship-building interests are located here; there is a large garment industry, tire factories and chemical plants, as well as the motion picture industry."

Movies' Accessory Industries

In connection with the last, the prominent citizen explained that nearly everything required by the industry, with the exception of the celluloid films, is also made in Los Angeles. The lumber, paint, electric power, clothing, properties and art work needed in movie productions are all furnished here. Many small industries have grown up in the wake of this big one, some of which are unique. There is one shoe store, for instance,

We spent 7 months gathering this Christmas Stock—it's all hand picked.

Gathering together a Holiday stock is like picking apples. You can pick up a bushel of wind-falls off the ground in the same breath it takes to hand pick a handful off the tree.

Instead of sitting down and waiting for a storm—we started in Climbing last June and have kept going ever since—with the result that today this store contains that kind and calibre of men's gifts that are seldom seen this side of Vanity Fair.

It took us 7 months to produce it—now we want you to see it.

Everything that a man could ask for is there—and the price tickets are as fair as the morning sun.

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association)

Paul Van Eyck Gives Ann Some "Expert Instruction" in Golf

"Where is Ann?" Jim standing behind me, whispered the query in my ear. She went home, you objected to her pumps, you know," I replied. "Then she didn't ride over in the big car with your crowd?" I shook my head.

"I suppose I'd better go and get her?" Jim put the question as if asking my advice. Instead of replying, I spoke of Van's game. He was at his best. And it wasn't for me to tell the young husband that Mistress Ann would better be allowed to put as long as she pleased.

"I'll take your car, Jane." I nodded and off went my brother-in-law. My mind revolved around the hazards of his heart rather than those of the golf course.

Like a proper husband, Jim Lorimer had gone to compromise with a peevish bride. I, as a bride of longer experience, could see plainly that Ann was winding her man around her finger. It was a shame, and yet, in one way, didn't Jim deserve it?

How could he marry a contrary little girl and expect her to behave like an adult woman? The ingenu type of bride is a 1920 fad—there are really men often overlook the older girls, most of whom ought to have been married two or three years ago, but were doomed to spinsterhood by the fortune of war.

Now the younger girls seem to have the pick of the eligibles in our town. Poor Jim was one of the eligibles and poor Deb one of the girls whom Mars and Cupid had combined to rob.

Doubtless Jim had found "I will" and "I won't" very tantalizing on the lips of a wayward sweetheart and probably he was learning that a married man can hear their too often, that they lose their charm on the lips of a wife.

Back came Jim bringing Ann for the luncheon at the club house after the noon's game. In the afternoon the links were turned over to the women. Ann and some others were beginners and it didn't surprise me to see Ann go off with Van for some expert instruction.

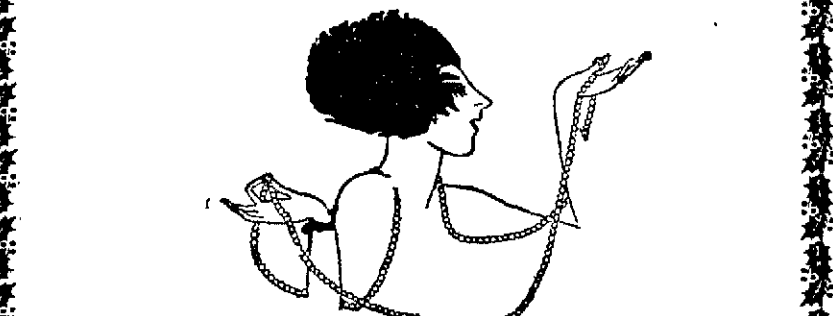

But I had worries of my own, worries about Bob; and the crowd bored me. Nothing seemed important to me but my own woe. So I slipped away to walk home by a quiet path through the woods.

At the edge of "the rough" I heard Van's voice and Ann's giggle. I caught the gleam of her white dress and his hurried command. "Wait! Wait!" as the girl ran straight into a rush covered swamp. Her feet, clad in those ridiculous pumps were soaked in a second, I knew.

Between the trees, I saw Van follow her; he picked her up as if she were indeed the irresponsible child she looked; and he carried her to the firm-er ground.

Now nobody would suspect Paul Van Eyck, bachelor of forty, gentleman of letters, and society favorite, of playing the cat toward a woman of his own set. Nevertheless, he held Ann in his arms three times longer than he needed for her rescue, quite as if he were teasing a child. And Ann—the impudent bebe, kicked—actually kicked—like a show girl in a play! I groaned—started to call out to her—then fled.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM COUNTY AND STATE

FARMERS OBJECT TO DRAINAGE PLAN

250 Land Owners Protest Against Plan Involving 42,000 Acres of Land.

Manitowoc—More than 250 farmers in Manitowoc and Calumet counties appeared before Judge Kirwan in circuit court to protest against the proposed organization of the Calumet and Manitowoc County Drainage district.

Forty-two thousand acres of lands in the two counties is involved in the proposed project. The hearing centered about the issue of whether the promoters of the plan had complied with the law and had secured sufficient signers to the petitions. Efforts had been made to secure withdrawal of many who had signed.

Between 500 and 600 owners of land would be affected by the project. One of the big undertakings in connection with it is the dredging of the Mani-

FIRE DESTROYS HEMP PLANT AT FAIRWATER

Fond du Lac—The plant of the Fairwater Hemp Co. at Fairwater, Wis., declared to be the largest equipped hemp plant in the United States, was destroyed by fire Wednesday, entailing a loss estimated at $50,000.

The fire started in the dry kilns and spread rapidly. In less than an hour the plant, with the exception of the storage warehouse and office building was in ruins. The company was fortunate in saving the storage warehouse, as it contained thousands of dollars' worth of baled hemp. The plant is to be rebuilt at once.

towne river for more than 60 miles which would involve an expense of more than $1,000,000. According to law, the cost is assessed to property owners benefited.

According to reports, the drainage district project was proposed after sale of 1,000 acres of land, principally in Calumet county, to outside interests, who, opponents of the plan claim, are the real promoters.

SOCIALISTS VICTORS IN KIEL CITY ELECTION

Manitowoc, Wis.—The first election held at Kiel since that place became a city resulted in a sweeping victory for the Socialists, that party winning every office with one exception.

H. A. Annemann was elected mayor by a majority of 74 votes, defeating Dr. J. P. Knauf. Annemann carried every ward. W. Henschel was the victor for the office of city treasurer, winning over Mrs. Carrie Maurer. Four aldermen were elected, Charles Allinger won in the First, John Eugei was named in the Second, and Joseph Schaller and John Michels in the Third and Fourth, respectively. Michels is a Republican. Supervisors were named as follows: First ward, L. A. Rehm; Second ward, Herman Roethel; Third ward, R. Drews. Mr. Roethel is already a member of the county board, having represented the village of Kiel. He was recently defeated for re-election to the state assembly. As a result of Kiel becoming a city the county board will be increased by two members, with a total of 35.

MORE CONTAGION IS REPORTED IN STATE

Closer Compliance With Law May Be Reason for Increase in Reports.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison, Wis.—Are communicable diseases unusually prevalent in Wisconsin at the present time? The state board of health after studying the records for November is prepared to answer this question in the affirmative, though with certain qualifications. On the basis of mere figures a greater number of cases of these maladies were reported during the past month than during the corresponding month of 1919. In every instance, too, the average number of cases which were notified during November from 1914 to 1919 was exceeded by the 1920 records. For purposes of comparison this information is presented in tabular form:

	No. of cases reported in Nov., 1920	No. of cases reported in Nov., 1919	Average No. of cases reported in Nov., 1914 to 1919
Meningitis	11	3	5
Chickenpox	453	418	226
Diphtheria	728	394	242
Influenza	37	9	9
Measles	381	394	294
Infantile paralysis	16	7	7
Scarlet fever	610	418	278
Smallpox	598	467	175
Tuberculosis	149	114	134
Typhoid fever	39	25	38
Whooping cough	624	162	149
	3,766	2,326	1,546

"While these reported cases appear to indicate a marked increase of communicable diseases," the board explained "another factor should be taken into consideration before a conclusion is reached. During the past year the state board of health has carried on an earnest and vigorous campaign for the prompt reporting of communicable disease, believing that this action ranks next to early diagnosis as a means of controlling these afflictions. That these efforts are gradually meeting with success is clearly indicated by the returns. It is doubtful, however, whether these apparently high figures represent even one-fourth of the illnesses which actually have occurred.

"The increase in case reporting is a most encouraging sign of interest in disease prevention, for it insures official recognition of the diseases so notified. It is true, of course, that there are obvious flaws in many of the barriers erected between the sick and the well. However, the mere knowledge of the existence of a disease demands the application of some protective measures.

"While there is evidently an increase of communicable disease in the state, this increase should be measured in terms of improved case reporting. At the same time the board desires to issue an emphatic warning to physicians, health officers and parents to use every means of preventing the spread of these maladies. In addition to early diagnosis and prompt case reporting, the board urges that all citizens unite with physicians and health officers in demanding isolation of the sick when it is prescribed, in placarding infected homes and in applying the official rules. Especially valuable in heading off a prospective epidemic is the isolation of persons suffering from suspicious illness even before a positive diagnosis can be made. Above all, the family physician should be summoned early and his instructions followed to the letter."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits.

THREE AGED CITIZENS ARE SUMMONED BY DEATH

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—A pleasant gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Oertel northwest of this city Wednesday evening. The party of about fifty people congratulated the groom, Mr. Oertel and his bride, formerly Miss Dora Sagmeister of Big Falls, on their recent marriage. The evening was spent in dancing and other amusements.

John Stilen, a pioneer resident of Maple Creek died at his home recently at the age of 77 years. His wife died several years ago. Eight children survive.

Mr. Stilen was a Civil war veteran, a member of Company I, 1st Wisconsin cavalry. The flag over the G. A. R. hall floated at half mast this week in deference to him.

Theodore Glass, a resident of this city for many years, died at his home Friday night after a short illness with pneumonia. Mr. Glass was 77 years of age, and had spent nearly all his life in New London. He lived with his aged father and brother on Spring street. The father predeceased the son in death and now the brother, Joseph Glass, is the only survivor.

Mrs. Abram Hamilton met with a painful injury Thursday while engaged with her household duties. An oil stove exploded burning her arms and hands.

Albert Cooper, who had operated a barber shop in this city on North Water street for many years, died this week after a short illness with pneumonia.

The new residence which is being erected for the Joseph Bentz family on Dickinson street will be completed this month and be occupied by the family before Christmas.

Mrs. H. K. Nivens of Beacon avenue left this week for Minneapolis, where she will visit before leaving for California, where she will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. John Yates, formerly of New London.

Births during the past week were: sons to Mr. and Mrs. M. Norder, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Floetz; daughters to Mr. and Mrs. F. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William Gough, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sheldon.

ONLY 4 HORTONVILLE HUNTERS SHOT DEER

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Hortonville—A grocery and shoe store was opened here by Emmet and George Collar in the Buchmann building formerly occupied by John Sigt Jr. A clothing store was opened by Shapley & Co. December 3.

Deer hunters from here who brought back a buck were Robert Duestler, John Jacquot, Martin Jacquot and Fred Truax. The hunters who came back empty handed were, John Smith, Mel. Davis, Lucius and Harry Collar.

Nye Schwels was a visitor in Appleton and Menasha Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dorschner of Brillion visited friends and relatives in the village several days.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O'Neill and children are visiting Mrs. O'Neill's parents at Moseling.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark were visitors at Bonduel a few days this week.

Mrs. R. C. Kuhn, who has been visiting relatives here has returned to her home at Minneapolis.

Mrs. Murphy, who has spent the summer here, departed for Wausau to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Evans.

Lloyd Schultz was a business visitor in Appleton Wednesday.

Mildred Steffen and Carl Schroeder of Appleton spent Sunday at the Leonard Steffen home.

Mrs. R. S. Schwels left Monday for Dorchester for a few weeks' visit.

FOND DU LAC TO HAVE $300,000 POSTOFFICE

Fond du Lac—Fond du Lac is to have a new $300,000 post office building if a bill to be presented in congress on Dec. 6 by Congressman Florian Lambert is passed.

Fond du Lac has outgrown the present postoffice to such an extent that it will require one four or five times the present size.

Mr. Lambert, in Washington, writes he is certain of the passage of his bill and that work upon the new structure will be started next summer. The building is to be erected on the site of the present post office.

The board of education accepted plans and specifications for a new high school building for this city, which, when completed, will cost $1,000,000 and will be one of the finest in the state. The school is to be located in a grove on the river bank and next summer the unit to be constructed will cost $360,000. The action of the board follows close upon the announcement of several other projects, including the $400,000 six story bank and office building of the Commercial National bank, the $350,000 five story club home and office building of the Moose lodge.

RACINE TAX RATE IS HIGHEST IN HISTORY

Racine, Wis.—The city's tax rate for 1920 is $28.33 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, the highest rate in the history of Racine and is $2.66 higher than in 1919 when taxpayers and city officials believed the high peak had been reached.

The high rate is due to the increased amount levied against the city of Racine for county purposes, it being almost double the amount of 1919.

While the assessed valuation of all real and personal property in Racine has been increased from $68,900,000 to $73,800,000 the mill tax has not been reduced, but is increased because of greater taxes for state and county purposes.

PEA GROWERS PLAN TO DEMAND JUST PRICES

Watertown—Farmers of Jefferson county will organize at the county seat Saturday in order to present demands to canning factories, in an effort to secure what they claim to be just prices for peas grown for packing.

The Jefferson county organization is being backed by the Jefferson County Farm bureau and when completed will affiliate with the Wisconsin State Pea Growers' association. At a recent meeting of growers from all parts of the state held in Madison, it was charged that contracts with growers had been written too much in favor of the packers.

BLAME WORLD WAR FOR BIG REQUESTS

year than they are receiving during the present year are the war risk insurance bureau, the pension department, the federal board for vocational education, the department of agriculture and the White House.

The executive proper appropriation for this year is $701,320 while next year the request is for $436,800.

These Want Increase

The increase in appropriations asked by the various departments follows: State, $3,183,831.00; treasury, $116,000,000; interior, $21,531,000; postoffice, $182,800.75; commerce, $10,033,552.20; labor, $5,923,135.75; justice, $2,318,005.73; interstate commerce commission, $381,400; federal trade commission, $100,000; shipping board, $147,456.02; railroad labor board, $100,000; federal power commission, $367,065.

For the enforcement of prohibition, $7,500,000 was asked.

Army and navy requests for aviation appropriations $95,000,000, as compared with $53,000,000 granted for the current year, indicating a larger army is expected. The amount asked for the pay of the army is $215,659,830. Although the chemical warfare service was granted no appropriation for experimental work during the current year, it asks for $4,457,376.20 for next year. Requests for the national guard total $74,808,000, an increase of $46,000,000.

$200,000 to Fight Flu

Other government innovations for which appropriations are requested are:

Weather bureau, service on condition of highways, $20,000.

Weather bureau stations to forecast forest fires, a prison exclusively for women to cost $200,000.

To continue the fight against influenza and the search for an effective cure, an appropriation for $200,000 is asked by the United States health service.

To build public health service hospitals for wounded soldiers, an additional appropriation of $35,000,000 was requested.

The secretary of agriculture believes $1,000,000 is necessary to fight the foot and mouth disease and $650,000 the pink bull worm. He also proposes to make an investigation of the cost of farm products, economic problems on the farm and rural life at a cost of $612,000, while much larger appropriations are asked to assist in marketing crops.

Summarized, other important requests are:

Return of American soldier dead, $20,000,000; the United States employment service, $1,634,491.50 as compared with $225,000 for the current year; for enforcement of anti-trust laws, $300,000, increase of $2,000; bureau of immigration, $146,000, increase of $68,000; bureau of naturalization, $266,000, increase of $300,000; child welfare, $352,770, increase of $502,770; women's labor bureau, $92,500, increase of $84,000, investigation of foreign discrimination against American ships, $100,000; South American and far eastern commerce, $500,000, increase of $100,000; commercial attaché service department of commerce, $209,000, increase of $125,055.

BATIK BALL OPENS FREAK SEASON

Chicago—Behold the batik! It's a queer word that has to do with an old Javanese method of applying dye to cloth—a crazy design dyed by covering the rest of the cloth with a wax that comes off after the dyeing is finished. Artists and society folks have caught the fever and it broke out all over a batik ball recently held here. Lovely ladies were togged out in their birthday costumes, except for silk scarfs, wound around from armpit to knee. The rest of them was painted in bright colors. Two of the Javanese group are shown above: the Misses Florence (left) and Marie (right) Walsh. Weights were used in these costumes to keep the gentle breezes from blowing up a scandal. The batik ball was given by the National Art Service League—the first of the season's crop of freak-dress balls.

CHEESE PRODUCERS TO MARKET PRODUCT

Co-operative Society of Producers Will Take Over Cheese Warehouses.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Cooperation in marketing their product has been a notable success among the cheese producers of Wisconsin. The Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation has now been in existence since 1914 and in that time the amount of cheese handled by it has increased from 6,125,480 pounds in 1914 to 14,098,021 pounds in 1919.

At a special meeting of the Federation held on November 23 last it was decided to take another advanced step in cooperation and organize the Wisconsin Dairymen's Storage Company for the purpose of marketing dairy products more effectively. A plan was adopted which was endorsed by the Division of Markets, the Economics Department of the University and by the Farm Bureau Federation.

The plan as laid out contemplates getting a majority of all the cheese producers of the state into the federation, and the organization of a two hundred and fifty thousand dollar corporation to take over the Plymouth and Spring Green warehouses and thus enable the federation to secure the advantages in marketing its products which storage facilities will give it. The plan has such excellent endorsement that there seems no doubt about it being put through. The directors of the Cheese Producers' Federation are getting out an address to all cheese producers pointing out the immense advantages which will accrue from having storage facilities. "Dairymen," says this address, "must directly or indirectly pay for cheese storage houses, and their upkeep and they might as well own and operate them."

The address says further that in the past seven years the chief profit in dairy products has not been in producing but in marketing the product.

The storage company will be organized with only about two thousand dollars of common stock which will have all the voting power. The balance of the $250,000 will be preferred stock carrying a guaranteed return of 6 per cent.

Once the new company is launched and has taken over the Plymouth and Spring Green storage houses it will put up new starchouses as needed.

The directors of the Cheese Producers' Federation who signed the address going out are Henry Kuntrey, R. B. Melvin, G. A. Schultz, W. C. Brill, Gust Breckbauer, John Bruckner, and Wm. H. Hutter.

Y. M. C. A. Open House

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful, new elixir so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to stop into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

MANY REQUESTS FOR INSPECTIONS

Boiler Explosion at Stoughton Is Object Lesson to the State.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—The Industrial Commission is being flooded with requests for boiler inspections since the boiler explosion in the plant of the Stoughton Marketing Company on November 24. This explosion resulted in five deaths and three other cases of serious injury. The coroner's jury decided that the officials of the company could not be held for manslaughter, but, of course, did not relieve the company from civil liability.

In the past the owners of uninsured boilers have frequently objected to inspection claiming that they could test their boilers themselves. This has been particularly true of the owners of cheese factories and creameries, nearly all of which have uninsured boilers.

The Stoughton explosion was the second one in a little over a year. In 1919 a boiler exploded at Loyal, also in a creamery, killing the proprietor and his one employee. In that case, as in the Stoughton case, the boiler had never been inspected and its defects were so obvious that any inspection would certainly have prevented the explosion. The boiler at Stoughton was a second-hand boiler which had been used for 16 years as a heating boiler carrying only 5 to 10 pounds of pressure. This thin-shelled heating boiler was converted into a power boiler carrying over 40 pounds of pressure, without any other test having been made than by the seller himself.

The Industrial Commission warns the owners of all uninsured boilers of 10 or more horsepower to have them inspected at once, unless they are now being regularly inspected by boiler insurance companies. Statistics show that one in every seven boilers is defective, and there are many boilers in that state which are in just as dangerous a condition as was this boiler at Stoughton. Tests by anyone not a trained boiler inspector carrying a certificate of competency from the state are worthless. The law requires that all boilers shall be inspected twice each year, and it is the duty of the owners of uninsured boilers to notify the industrial commission that they desire an inspection.

Inspections are also required before any second-hand boiler may be installed or used. The Industrial Commission suggests that the purchasers of second-hand boilers should make it a condition of sale that the boiler be inspected and approved by the commission as being in a safe condition.

EXPECT MANY DADS AT LEGION MEET

Attractive Program Is Arranged for Monthly Gathering Tonight.

A number of dads are expected at the meeting of the Dney Johnston post of the American Legion at 7:30 o'clock on Monday evening at Elk hall. Plenty of amusement is promised by the entertainment committee headed by C. C. Baker.

Delegations will be here from Seymour, Little Chute and Neenah. The Seymour group expects to put on a novel entertaining feature which has not been divulged.

Every member has been warned not to appear unless he brings his own dad or another borrowed for the occasion. The executive committee of the Outagamie County Council of Defense is also to be present.

There will be a short business session, followed by a continuous program of interesting events. Army singing will be enjoyed with Max Schults at the piano. A luncheon will top the list of events.

St. Paul Supper

The ladies of St. Paul Lutheran church will serve the members at a supper Wednesday evening in the dining room of St. Paul school.

Christmas Party

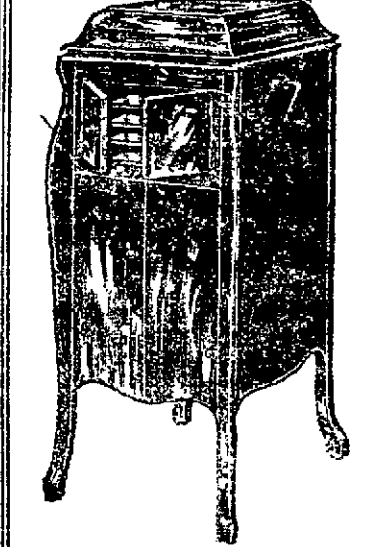

The dormitory men will give their annual dinner and Christmas party on the evening of December 21 at the Y. M. C. A. Preparations are being made for a "good time" party.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanolac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan of Peabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock-dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case."

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect."

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

Tanolac is sold in Appleton by Dr. F. O. Brown. Shiocton: Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek: H. E. Abend, Dale, R. E. Lowell, Little Chute.

zealous of them as a member, but I mean at the same time to be just as insistent about the responsibilities of the executive. This brings me to the thought particularly in my mind. Something has

WHAT IS GOOD FOR PUBLIC IS GOOD FOR HIM. ARMOUR SAYS

Chicago Packer Says Biggest Task Is to Map Out Strong Program.

Chicago—F. O. Oden Armour believes whatever steps are taken for the public good by congress and the new administration, will benefit his business—and whatever is done for the benefit of his business will be for the public good.

This opinion was expressed by the head of the Armour Packing company today in an exclusive interview with the United Press concerning proposed federal legislation.

It is the task of congress and the incoming administration to sift out from the multitude of thought offered a comprehensive program for readjustment and a return to a peace time basis, Armour said.

Anything that is good for business is going to be good for the public, he said. I am not saying that I want to be the only one who is good for my business. I want to be good for the public—otherwise I would not give you the interview you are making.

been said about the senatorial election. Of course every one knows that to be a bit of high initiative and business sense. But I to recognize how essential is the helplessness of the senate in the making of a successful administration. I want to express today the wish of a colleague for the confidence and the cooperation of the members of this body in the four years which begin next March. I do not want this sincere request to the republican side of the senate. One cannot promise agreement in all things with an opposite party which is sometimes honestly wrong. But we may find common ground in the spirit of service and I hope for a agreeable and courteous attitude. This helpful relationship with the opposite

With propriety I cannot venture upon any suggestions now, even though I am speaking as a member of this body. Three months of the present administration remain and I would have house and senate join cordially in making them fruitful rather than wasted months. There is so much to be done and we have already had so much delay that I should like unanimous recognition that there are no party ends to serve, but precious days of calling for service to our common country."

namely that the credit of the United States is already in such strained conditions that to extend loans to any one class would only start a general demand for relief which would weaken the government purse and force down the price of Liberty bonds and other obligations.

Much of the trouble is due to the fact that while the people voted in November to turn the democratic administration out of power, the new administration doesn't come into office until three months have passed and probably will not get familiar with the problems in hand for another two months after that, while American business suffers all sorts of fears and nervousness. This shaky condition of the economic world will compel conferences between the Wilson and Harding administration and between republican and democratic leaders. Most officials are optimistic about the future and attribute the entire business apathy to the pains of readjustment and the difficulties of changing administrations in the midst of a reconstruction period unparalleled in American history. FARM UPRISINGS MAY BE RESULT OF IGNORING FARMERS

Governor Allen Predicts Political Reaction Will Manifest Itself.

By United Press Leased Wire Emporia, Kansas—"A dangerous political reaction of the present maladjustment in the matter of agricultural interests was forecasted in an interview today by William Allen White, one time Bull Moose national committeeman for Kansas.

White believes this reaction will take the form of an "agrarian uprising like that of the nineties which expressed itself in the farmers' alliance and populist party."

These factors, he feels, are the disturbing elements:

1.—A steady decline in the price of everything the farmer has to sell.

2.—Continued increase in land, rent and interest rates.

3.—Failure of unemployment in cities to reduce farm labor wages. Unless the farmer gets relief, White expects this political reaction to show itself in the 1922 election.

"There is liable to be," White said—"I really think there will be—a dangerous political reaction to the present maladjustment in the matter of agricultural interests. Last Saturday there met in Lyon county courthouse, in response to a more or less spontaneous feeling, 75 good staunch, methodist, republican farmers, the type that is on the county central committee and served on the district precinct committees—the big farm owners in this county. These men had no leadership and no program, but they were discussing earnestly but not excitedly, the terrible conditions which the farmer has to face. They saw rather definitely a gradual decline, and an almost inevitable decline in the things the farmer has to sell—his livestock, his grain, his poultry, his hay—and they have seen this decline coming as interest rates have been rising and as the rent on land has also been increasing. PRINCETON TO MEET ANNAPOLIS NEXT YEAR

Annapolis, Md.—Princeton and the Annapolis midshipmen will clash on the gridiron at Farragut field at the naval academy on Oct. 15 next. Announcement to this effect was made Sunday night by Commander Douglas L. Howard, director of athletics at the academy.

The two institutions entered into a two-year agreement last year for alternate matches and during the late season the midshipmen went to Junction and were defeated 19 to 0. The date for next year's game was all that remained to be decided.

Now that the University of Pennsylvania will not come to Annapolis for a game the midshipmen management has opened negotiation with Penn State and there is strong likelihood of a game being arranged. The plan is to play on neutral grounds, North Carolina State is definitely fixed on the navy schedule for Oct. 1 and negotiations with University of Virginia, Bucknell and other institutions are pending.

So extensively does powdered animal horn enter into native remedies in China that medicine factories maintain herds of deer for their horns.

The Day's Work

THE level-headed man makes his clothes pass the same rigid test he applies to his business purchases. They must stand the gaff of the day's work.

Eagle Shirts are designed for beauty but the yarn with which the patterns are fashioned are chosen for wear. They are selected to stand friction—the friction of vests and coat sleeves, of rubbing collars and ever-moving wrists.

An Eagle Shirt is a utility garment made of fabric woven by the makers to meet an ideal. You'll find every shirt in our collection the ultimate in value at the price.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE FACES BIG SEASON

Swaps and Purchases Will Come Thick and Fast During the Winter.

By Henry L. Farrell
By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Wholesale swaps, deals and trades may be expected in the big league circuits as soon as three man-agersless clubs get a boss.

The Detroit Tigers, the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Braves have not announced their new management but it may come now any day since the war is over.

Clarence Rowland is considered Frank Navin's choice as successor to Hugh Jennings.

Leo Fehl, former head of the Cleveland Indians, is being talked of to take the job of Jimmy Burke in St. Louis. Fred McLeod, deposed leader of the Chicago Cubs, is considered as sure of George Stallings' place on the Braves bench.

Practically every team in both leagues needs a plug in some week hole. The Cleveland champions are sadly in need of a shortstop and if the rule against spitballers is not rescinded, Speaker will need a couple of pitchers. The Brooklyn National league champions would like to have a third baseman and a spy catcher or two.

Before Manager McGraw left for Cuba, he said he needed a good second baseman as Larry Doyle is definitely through and also would like a good center fielder.

The Yanks are said to have bought Jerry Pagan from the Athletics to take Del Pratt's place at second.

Wally Pipp is due for a change in some kind of a trade and Babe Ruth probably will be tried at first base with Bob Meusel.

Comiskey needs practically a whole team in Chicago and some trading activity is bound to come as the magnates have agreed to give him help. The Cubs are not well off.

Every team needs some kind of a change and since the political fight is over and the managers have a free run to go out and trade the winter stovepipe league will have plenty to watch during the off season.

LOGGERS AND RAIL MEN TALK TRANSPORTATION

Antigo.—About 25 lumbermen and loggers met with officials of the Chicago and Northwestern railway here to discuss methods of best handling the movement of logs this winter. Each shipper was asked to state his car requirements as nearly as could be estimated and the estimates indicate that the log movement this year will equal that of last season. In addition to Ashland division officials there were present S. F. Miller, assistant general manager; F. H. Hammel, general freight agent; F. H. Hammel, assistant general manager; W. D. Beck, superintendent of car service; T. H. D. Goodnow, superintendent of car department; E. B. Hall and E. H. Wade, assistant superintendents of motive power and machinery.

COMMISSION TO HEAR "BAY" CASE AT MADISON

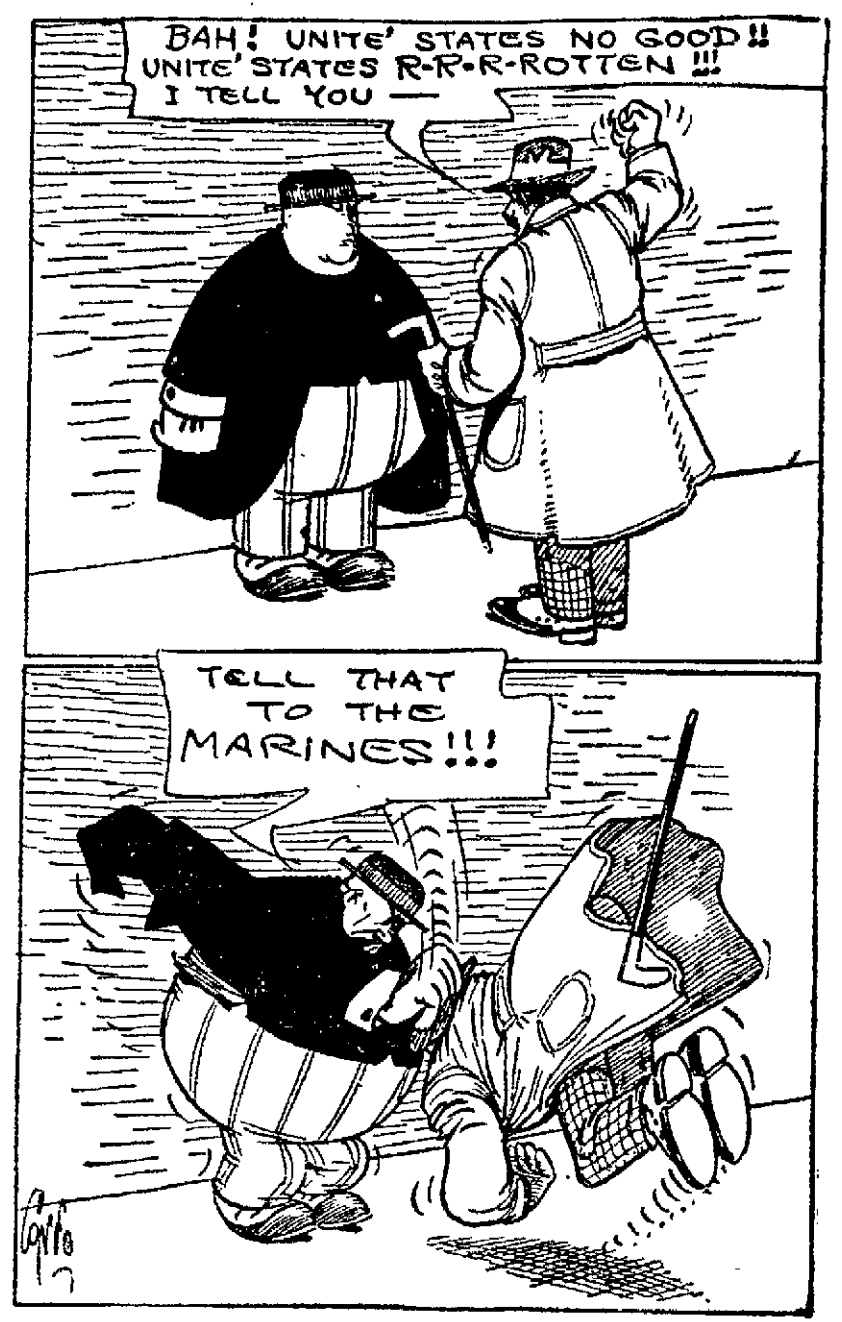

Madison.—The state railroad commission has set Jan. 6 as the date upon which it will hear the petition filed recently by residents on the "bay" side of Lake Monona.

Boats, it is said by their residents, are unable to get into the lake under the railroad bridge used by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Northwestern roads, and they ask that the bridge be raised.

The bridge was used by the first railroad which came into Madison more than seventy years ago, and it is estimated that to raise the bridge and the grades of the road would entail an expenditure of approximately $500,000.

OHIO BREAKS WITH WISCONSIN SCHOOL

Badgers Will Not Meet Ohio State in Any Athletic Competition.

Chicago.—Two of the breaks brought about on Saturday in the football relations between traditional rivals in the western conference have extended into other branches of sport. It became known Sunday night when the Big Ten baseball schedules for next spring were made public. Wisconsin and Ohio State have not scheduled games with each other on the diamond and neither have Minnesota and Illinois, another pair to discontinue their annual football game.

Michigan and Chicago however, will meet on the diamond despite the failure to arrange a football game. Chicago's resumption of athletic relations with Northwestern was given a wider scope when these two schools scheduled baseball games.

Ohio State thus far has the smallest number of games on its schedule, while Michigan has seventeen, although all are not with conference teams.

The Badger schedule follows:

April 22-24—Indiana at Bloomington.

April 25—Northwestern at Evans-ton.

April 30—Chicago at Chicago.

May 7—Purdue at Madison.

May 14—Illinois at Madison.

May 20—Illinois at Urbana.

May 21—Northwestern at Madison.

May 27—Chicago at Madison.

May 28—Purdue at Lafayette.

May 30—Michigan at Ann Arbor.

June 4—Notre Dame at Madison (non-conference).

June 6—Michigan at Madison.

FRASER COMPANY OFFICE IS NEARLY COMPLETED

The Fraser Lumber and Manufacturing company is putting the finishing touches on its new office building at the corner of Superior and Perry streets and expects to occupy it by Jan. 1, 1921. It is being finished in California red wood, and will be one of the prettiest buildings of its kind in the city.

The grain of the panels, which are turned out of red wood roots, is especially beautiful and will be stained grey. The castings will have a rose-wood stain.

The building is 26 by 40 feet in size and has a lobby 19 by 21 feet, which is provided with a terrazzo floor. The main office room is 14 by 14 feet and the private office 11 by 11 feet. The superintendent's room is 10 by 11 feet and the coat room 6 by 11 feet.

Among the other rooms are those of the bookkeepers and yard master, 10 by 14 and 7 by 12 feet respectively, and on the north side of the building is a vault 4 1/2 by 11 feet.

The building is heated by hot water and has two entrances, one on Superior street and the other on Perry street.

BUCK WOULD TELL STORY FROM STAGE

Indicted Ball Player Thinks Fans Would Let Him Tell His Tale.

Chicago.—Whether the fickle public would greet an indicted ballplayer appearing before the footlights with cheers or jeers is a question that may soon be determined.

George (Buck) Weaver is planning to go into vaudeville.

Weaver said on Thursday at the drug store where he is working, that he had arranged with a Chicago booking agency to put on a monologue to prove his innocence of complicity in the alleged conspiracy to throw the 1918 world's series.

"If my lawyer doesn't object, I will put on the act," Weaver declared. "He'll give his answer in twenty-four hours."

The suggestion that his act might be met with a varied assortment of decayed vegetables drew a smile from the fearless Buck. He said the public doesn't believe him guilty; that his friends are still standing by him.

Besides, he added, he wasn't such a bad actor either.

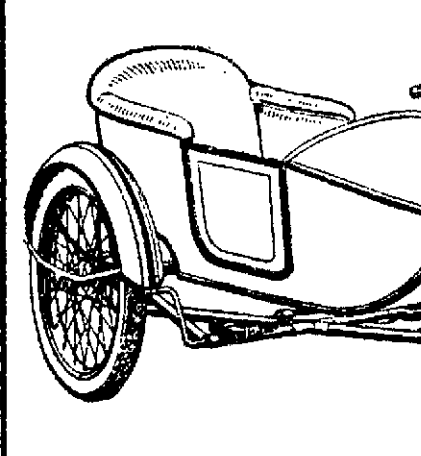

Four years ago Buck married one of the Cook sisters then in vaudeville. Their act was the "Four Harmony Girls." After the baseball season ended Weaver and Jim Scott, former White Sox pitcher, were included in the act.

"Everybody thought Scott and I would come out in a uniform and look sheepish, but we crossed 'em," said Weaver. "The act went big."

It is Weaver's intention to make in public specific denials of charges and suspicions against him in the form of a talk to his audiences. Some theater managers are said to think well of the proposition, on the theory that the notoriety given Weaver by the Cook county grand jury investigation would attract people to see him out of curiosity, if for no other reason.

A Missourian has designed an adjustable bookmark with a guide that moves sidewise or vertically.

EXPECT FIGHT ON DRY EXTRADITION

Michigan Dry Agents Wanted in Hurley Have Official Backing.

Hurley, Wis.—Dist. Atty. Marion F. Reid will be in Lansing, Mich., next Wednesday, when the hearing on the extradition of Leo J. Grove and two federal prohibition enforcement officers under his command will be held.

On the result of the hearing at Lansing depends the prosecution of the federal men in connection with the slaying of John M. Chiapuzio, Hurley saloon keeper, who was the victim of a federal shooting affair near Hurley, October 3.

Fight Indicated
If the extradition of the three federal men is approved, it is expected as district attorney will go to Springfield, Ill., to make requisition for the extradition of the three Illinois men. Jaso wanted in the Chiapuzio case, an effort is being made to determine which of the six federal men fired the shot which killed Chiapuzio.

Reports from Lansing indicate dry forces of the state have implicit confidence in the workings of Grove's office and will fight extradition.

While confidence in Grove is indicated, authorities here are beginning to wonder what has happened in the case of Frank W. Haas, federal prohibition officer stationed in Hurley for six months, who signed a confession of irregularities in Hurley.

While it is known Haas was in Hurley not long ago to seek counsel to defend him, nothing more has been made known by Grove's office as to whether Haas will be prosecuted. It is common talk here that Haas accepted money bribes and authorities are anxious to know if he is going to be prosecuted.

There is a possibility that something may develop at the grand jury hearing in La Crosse this month that will have a bearing on the situation.

RAIL OFFICIALS HERE ON INSPECTION TRIP

Several officials of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company spent several hours in Appleton Thursday, making use of automobiles in inspecting the company's property. They arrived in a special car, which was sidetracked near the depot for the greater part of the day. Included in the party were F. H. Hammel, first vice president, Chicago; S. F. Miller, general freight agent, Chicago; W. D. Beck, superintendent of transportation, Chicago; F. D. Pondell, superintendent of Wisconsin Northern division, Fond du Lac; and J. G. STOCKS WEAKEN DURING
THE CLOSING HOURS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—The Evening Sun's financial review today said:
"The new week in the securities market came in quietly and without pronounced features. Prices were in general heavy, with strong and weak spots. Buying power and urgent selling pressure were alike absent save in spots."

"The oil shares were particularly buoyant. As the session progressed, selling pressure became more in evidence and spread with impartial attention through the industrial and railroad lists. Senator Harding's appeal to congress to help in making the remaining three months of the present administration a fruitful period was regarded in the street as a timely and highly commendable note to strike."

"The last hour saw considerable weakness among the more active issues."

"Mexican Petroleum, after having sold as high as 184½, dropped to as low as 172. Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Pan-American Petroleum, Southern Pacific, Reading and some others suffered proportionately. Most of the steels and the more conservative stocks held their ground relatively well."

The market closed irregular.

MEET TONIGHT TO FORM
SOCIAL AGENCY COUNCIL

Two representatives from each of 34 Appleton organizations will meet in the French room of the Sherman house at 7:30 o'clock on Monday to discuss formation of a council of social agencies. The gathering will be addressed by Mrs. L. M. Rosier, Milwaukee, executive secretary of a similar organization there. It is possible that a council will be organized here to coordinate the civic activities of the city, preventing duplications and inefficient community betterment work.

URGE FORMATION
OF SCOUT TROOPPost-Crescent Carriers Given
Full Explanation at a Dinner.

Eighty-six young Americans representing the Post-Crescent carrier force and substitutes made the upper Y. M.
C. A. dining room a lively place Saturday evening. They partook of a delicious dinner until they couldn't hold another bite, and then were ready for the business of the occasion, organization of a boy scout troop.

F. J. Harwood addressed the boys on the subject of "Boy Betterment," telling them how important it was that they should develop a strong character and manliness while they were still in their youth. He gave them much useful advice and urged them to consider the boy scout idea seriously.

The purpose of the Post-Crescent in organizing the troop was explained by H. L. Davis, business manager. He stated that it was the company's interest in the boys at their age that prompted the move. The average time spent by a boy as a carrier is remains a boy scout for six years. It was the good that would rebound to the benefit of the boys in after life that the company desired to accomplish in the short time the boys were in its employ. He also showed how the boys would be helped to their full share of enjoyment of scout life thru special plans devised by the Post-Crescent management.

E. R. Henderson, scout executive, gave the boys a clear impression of what the boy scout movement included and what it would mean to those who joined in his address. He cleared up many of the doubtful points and expressed the hope that all the carriers would eventually join. Application blanks were distributed and are to be turned in at the Post-Crescent office within a day or two. A total of 47 boys signified their intention to join immediately and the prospects are that the troop will be fully organized by the end of the week.

HOUSTON IS NOT
SORRY FOR FARMERSFormer Farm Secretary Says
He Warned Farmers of What Was Coming.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Secretary of the Treasury Houston views the plight of the farmers of the country with "greater equanimity" on account of their failure to follow Houston's admonitions when secretary of agriculture, Eugene Mayer, former director of the war finance corporation, declared before the joint agriculture committee today.

Mayer's statement was in reply to Houston's testimony before the committee on Friday which he said "constitutes a confession of complete impotence in the present great crisis."

Mayer urged the resumption of the war finance corporation with all possible haste, as the "most comforting, the most helpful and the most healing
event of the year."

Thirteen points of Houston's testimony were taken up and denied by Mayer, principally statements reported to have been made by Houston that the corporation was a war or-

DEATHS

MARTIN ZIMMER
Martin Zimmer, aged 76 years, died at noon at his home, 1106 Alvin street, following a brief illness. He came to this country from Germany 50 years ago and resided on a farm at Black Creek up to 18 years ago, when he removed to Appleton. Decedent is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Olive Friemer, California; Mrs. Emma Bea-son, Appleton; two sons, John Zimmer, Montana; Edward Zimmer, Michigan.
also two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

WANTED GERMANY TO GET FAIR TREATMENT

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—A desire to see Germany get fair treatment in reports of fighting early in the world war was one reason Dr. Edward E. Rumley acquired control of the New York Evening Mail, he said today testifying in his own behalf in his trial on charges of violation of the trading with the enemy act.

Rumley said he believed many Americans were interested in complete reports from the German side as well as the allied and that he believed many businessmen would support such a paper.

WILSON'S PRESENTATION OF MESSAGE UNDECIDED

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Whether President
Wilson will read his message to congress or merely send the document to the house and senate to be read by clerks, was still a question today, according to White House officials. The president was described as still desiring to go before a joint session of the house and senate tomorrow with Dr.
Grayson and Mrs. Wilson opposing his plan.

EXPECT MORE COAL MEN WILL FACE INDICTMENT

By United Press Leased Wire
Indianapolis—Further indictments in the government's case against 125 coal operators and miners, charged with conspiracy to boost coal prices, were anticipated by federal officials
today.

Following impaneling of a grand jury before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson, United States Attorney Frederick Van Nuys announced he would move another postponement of trial of the miners and operators when the case was called Jan. 10 to allow for further investigation.

These investigations, it was said,
are expected to develop new indictments.

Instructions by Judge Anderson that the jury should investigate the coal men further followed statements by Attorney General Palmer's aides in court several weeks ago that Palmer's interference had upset their plans for the trial.

CLUB WOMEN TO SEEK
PARDON FOR GRACE LUSK

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Petition for the pardon of Grace Lusk, serving 20 years in the state penitentiary at Waupun for the killing of Mrs. David Roberts, Waukesha, will be made by club women of Wisconsin.

The petition made by Miss Lusk's
sister father has been withdrawn.
The Lusk pardon hearing was scheduled for Wednesday but is now indefinitely postponed. The reason for the delay is that attorneys for Miss Lusk want to perfect their organization work. Already petitions bearing the names of hundreds of club women have been received in Governor Phillipp's office but thousands of more will be obtained before the executive is asked to take action.

The delay, however, will probably take the matter out of Gov. Philipp's hands and place it before Governor John J. Blaine after the latter assumes office.
